

Expression of interest: Becoming an affiliate to the Foundation for Public Code

This expression of interest confirms the Decidim Association's intention to become an affiliate of the Foundation for Public Code.

The Decidim Association is currently leading globally pioneering work on supporting technological infrastructure for public service delivery. This includes supporting Barcelona and multiple other replicating public organizations in collaborating on and contributing to the Decidim codebase.

The Foundation for Public Code is a non-profit, member-owned association of public organizations, with a mission to enable public-purpose software and policy that is open and collaborative. This will result in higher quality services for the public that are more cost effective, with less risk and more local control.

With this expression of interest, the Decidim Association confirms their intention to become an affiliate of the Foundation for Public Code. This includes helping to generate feedback on:

- its governance models, membership and financial structure
- codebase stewardship activities
- the Standard for Public Code

This expression of interest allows both parties to discuss this potential collaboration publicly.
